

Geneva Monkress Biography

Geneva is a naturally born spiritual medium that grew up experiencing, herself, the devastation and life altering effects death can leave. Starting with the unexpected death of her mother when she was just barely 8 years old, then her dearest Grandfather, later a brother, and a sister as well. Even when she was very young, people could see she was very different from other kids. She spoke and had an understanding beyond her years, especially after a near death drowning as a toddler. She has always seemed to understand other people's needs before they did, which came in handy as she helped raise a brother with cerebral palsy. Geneva grew up in an abusive and dysfunctional home, that often left her neglected and with responsibilities only an adult should have. After her mother's death, her family often went through hunger, homelessness, and living in horrific conditions. No matter what she saw from those around her, she seemed to know right from wrong very easily. She had a subconscious understanding to direct her path towards God and spiritual truth. It was not an easy road by any means, yet, she persevered. From as far back as she can remember, Geneva started receiving visitations from angelic beings, family members who passed before she was born, people she never met, and some of those beings that visited terrified her while others comforted her. Many times she would tell people "Jesus comes and talks to me"! She doesn't remember if it really was Jesus or if it was beings of light sent by him but, what she does remember were people's reactions to what she said. The negative feedback she felt and heard from them caused her to stop speaking about her experiences all together. Her only reprieve in the chaos around her energetically, physically, and emotionally was to sit on the roof at night and look at the stars contemplating God, Jesus, Heaven and the Universe. Inside she felt she had a purpose but, she just didn't know what it was.

When Geneva was 12 she accidentally electrocuted herself while trying to fix a lamp. After that her abilities seemed to magnify. She could hear conversations very clearly when no one was around. Her feelings were heightened and she had pain in places that came from nowhere that she couldn't explain. She could see visions with extreme clarity and it all frightened her and she chose to ignore it all as much as possible. She was afraid she was crazy and nothing scared her more than someone finding out about her secret life of unexplainable occurrences. A Doctor even told her it was all in her head and none of it was real. She had no idea what was wrong with her so she resolved to not disclose to anyone anymore. It was at this point she seemed to "detach from herself" as she describes it, in order to survive.

The detachment went on for many years until about 5 years ago, while Geneva was texting and channel surfing. She stopped on a channel as she replied to a text. Her attention started to be drawn to the T.V. the woman on the screen was talking about spirits. Geneva did like ghost hunting shows and thought at first it was something like that. As the woman kept talking to another lady on the show, Geneva was seeing and hearing things before the woman uttered it. Geneva started to freak out, shaking, a bit scared and relieved at the same time. The show was called Long Island Medium. As Geneva continued to watch this marathon on T.V., She felt less alone and she felt understood. She began to wonder if she was a "medium". Months later while on a trip, Geneva experienced her 1st reading by a psychic. Geneva was actually hoping to hear from her recently departed sister. Instead the Psychic asked Geneva "Do you see them or hear them?" Geneva, intrigued, asked the Psychic what she meant? The psychic replied "spirits, do you see them or hear them?" Geneva replied "both why?" The psychic replied "so you know you are a Medium right?" Geneva's heart nearly stopped. After that, Geneva decided she only wanted to use her ability to help others and only if God supported her using it. That started her path to "rediscovering" herself and accepting her ability.

Geneva was not in a position to pay a lot of money to develop her ability through classes and workshops. So, after much convincing from her spirit guides and angels, she opened herself up in trust and allowed them to teach her to heal herself and strengthen her ability. After a few years of training with her spiritual team, they advised her it was time to start doing readings for others. Had it been up to Geneva to set up doing reading she jokes "It never would've happened!!" But instead, one night after meditation, a departed sister of a fellow co-worker came through. Geneva took everything down and called her coworker but, there was no answer. Geneva then sent the messages via text to her co-worker. Geneva's coworker posted the text messages on FB. From that one mini reading Geneva's business took off. Nearly all of her bookings were referrals from others, who had experienced life changing readings either in person or over the phone.

It's been a little over 2 years and Geneva has done readings for over 600 people all over the U.S. She feels building her business on referrals is the most honest way to spread what she does. Geneva is all about bringing healing and love to this world, even if it means relaying messages from loved ones, helping others overcome obstacles, teaching others how to become their best selves and help teach others how to connect with the other side. Geneva started Love Being classes last year to help others discover who they really are at the soul level and connect with the other side. Simply put, Geneva inspires others in all she does. You can't help but feel God working within you when you are with her. Find out for yourself and book a reading or attend classes with this gifted light worker.
